NOTE.—Calhoun county was originally called Fox county; Lyon was called Buncombe; Monroe, Klahwebosh; Washington, Slaughter; and Woodbury, Wahkaw. Hamilton was created as Risley county, and subsequently formed a part of Webster, Humboldt county, originally erected under that name, was afterwards divided between Kosuth and Webster; more recently, the territory which had been annexed to Kosuth, with the northern half of that detached to Webster, was re-erected into the county of Humboldt. The northern part of Kosuth county was at first Bancroft county, which, with the northern half of Humboldt, was united with Kosuth in 1855; subsequently the territory obtained from Humboldt was again detached. Webster county was at first called Yell county, which in 1855 was united with Risley and two tiers of townships in Humboldt to form Webster; in 1857, Hamilton county was detached, and also one tier of townships to Humboldt.

By an act of the General Assembly of 1870, the territory now embraced in Kosuth county lying north of the north line of township ninety-seven, was erected into the county of Crocker, but said act of the General Assembly was afterwards declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, and said territory reverted to the county of Kosuth.
